See The Light

By Dionne F. Richmond

Prior to the hurricane of 1938, the Birdlsland Lighthouse was surrounded by houses, chicken coops, a boathouse and a bell tower. The life of a lighthouse keeper was one of solitude.

Charles Bradley, President of the Bird Island Lighthouse Preservation Society, gave a lecture during a recent Massachusetts Boating Association meeting describing the history of the lighthouse. "Imagine what it was like, take this winter - he was marooned out there with ice on the harbor. It must have been a pretty lonely, boring occupation," he said.

During the hurricane of '38 the "whole tower was under water in waves." Mr. Bradley took the audience back many years, when the lighthouse was first built.

Around 1810 or so, merchants and seamen in the area must have decided there was a need for a lighthouse on Bird Island, to be used as a navigational aid for Marion Harbor and adjacent waters. A petition for a lighthouse was submitted to a group in Boston called the Boston Marine Society, which dates back to America's earliest days. According to a pamphlet from the Lighthouse Presevation Society, the group was responsible for charts and navigational aids in the young country. The group also helped to petition Congress for money to build the lighthouse.

In 1819 a lighthouse was built on Bird Island, on the easterly side of Sippican Harbor, which was still part of Rochester at the time. Over the years, several changes have taken place on Bird Island - a small house was built so that a family would be able to live on the island. There was also a chicken coop, boathouse, bell tower, oil shed and other small buildings.

In 1852, the old lantern room was removed and the present cast iron lantern was installed. In 1935 the light was extinguished by the Lighthouse Board, and the island was abandoned. In 1938, the Great Hurricane removed everything from the island except the lighthouse itself. It marks the entrance to Marion Harbor and is a lonely reminder of the past—when whaling ships and lumber packets once sailed by.

The Bird Island Lighthouse Preservation Society was formed in January of 1994, with the goal of restoring the lighthouse. This includes repointing and painting the lantern area and installing new glass. The final goal is to light the lantern with a modern light, using solar panels.

The Society needs residents who know history of the island, to come together and write everything they know. A lot of history has taken place on the island over the years. There are bits of information about births, mysterious deaths and rescues at sea. Much of the information is scattered around and will be lost if it's not compiled into a book.

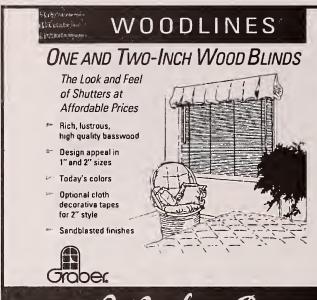

This year the Marion Antiques Show will be sponsoring the Bird Island Lighthouse. They need the history of the lighthouse - some paperwork could still be buried in archives in Rochester. "We're looking for volunteers to help us with our history collection and cataloging," said Mr. Bradley Today, many people say there isn't a need for lighthouses, said Mr. Bradley. "How many of you have navigational aids in your boats?" Many in the audience did not. He said people still use the landmark while bluefishing or evening sailing. The Preservation Society has a goal to get a license upgraded to a nine mile range using the technology available today - solar panels and new high tech batteries and strobe light.

On The Cover: This picture of Bird Island Lighthouse was taken in 1935, prior to the Hurricane of 1938, courtesy of the Sippican Historical Society and L.H. Watson of Marion. Does anyone know what these buildings are outside of the lighthouse? Anyone with pictures or history of the lighthouse is asked to contact The Bird Island Lighthouse Preservation Society, 2 Spring Street, Marion, MA 02738.

Although the stones aren't in bad shape, Mr. Bradley said all of the stone work has to be repainted because of fungi and vegetation on the rocks. He said the lantern is also in "fairly good shape. There are unique cross lights in the lantern room."

All that is left of bell tower is a little bit of rubble of the foundation left amongst the rocks. Pieces of the oil shed also remain - as does "an important part of history and a unique chapter - a lot of people feel it should be preserved."

"We feel a vital piece of Marion's History should be preserved," added Mr. Bradley. The lighthouse was in service until the 1938 hurricane. Ms. Betty Hooper of the Sippican Historical Society did point out that the Society raised money and brought back the Lighthouse for five years in 1963 - a grand celebration was had with the light in the lighthouse turned on after a stunning display of fireworks at the town beach. Ms. Dorothy Drolett also informed the audience that it was her brother, Richard Holmes, who was behind getting the town to add the lighthouse to the town warrant in the 1960s.

A company by the name of International Chimney, responded immediately once the preservation told them of their plans. They originally began their business restoring chimneys, but fell in love with lighthouse restoration. "They gave us the key term price - $102,000," Bradley said.

Mr. Bradley said the more the Preservation Society thought about it, the more they realized they wanted to do it right. At first the amount was intimidating, but he said they didn't want a "half restoration.

People from all over have donated money since the restoration project began-the Preservation has collected over $80,000 for the project in all. A Federal Grant for $35,000 also came as an Representative Straus states in his letter, that as a result of the most recent hearing on this proposal before the Joint Committee on Counties, the administration has not been able to identify cost savings in order to justify the idea.

•The Department of Environmental Protection submitted a copy of a "Notice of Responsibility" that was forwarded to Liberty Auto Parts in New Bedford. This notice relates to a hazardous material release on Wolf Island Road on February 19, 1996. Approximately 50 gallons of waste oil was released onto a dirt roadway, according to the letter.

Also DEP submits a copy of a Conditional Approval to Conduct an Immediate Response Action sent to Mr. Leo Roy, Massasoit Way. The Immediate Response Action Plan (IRA) proposes preventative measures to be initiated immediately with the intent to control the impact to the property from the sump pump discharge and to initiate recovery of the oil. According to the letter, "It must be understood that the actions proposed are not meant to completely remediate the 900 gallon number two Fuel Oil Release." The scope of the IRA plan is to modify the existing sump pump system to allow for improved performance during the spring high groundwater period. The scope of the IRA Plan as submitted includes an oil recovery system to be installed in the vicinity.

request of Steve Rand, FXM Associates has prepared the following suggested steps for a town wide comprehensive master plan for Mattapoisett. According to the letter explaining the master plan - "Properly done, a comprehensive planning effort required the substantial commitment of local officials, advisory groups and citizens. It should include a strong, formalized community involvement component (publicized and scheduled public meetings and workshops, newsletters, and so forth."

FXM gave the following suggested steps towards implementing a master plan - establishing a comprehensive plan committee, set priority issues, goals and objectives, select a consultant and engage in the comprehensive planning process. Chairman Lambalot said the Board would take the suggestions under advisement and will share the master plan suggestions with members of the planning board.

At 8:10 pm Selectmen met with members of the Mattapoisett Citizens Initiative to discuss zoning by-law petitions. Members submitted a petition with 9 by-law amendments including Water Front residence, village residence, marine residence, rural residence, establishment of Districts, and density regulations, zoning map amendments, and definition of lot. Selectmen accepted the petition on behalf of the petitioners.

At the end of the meeting, Selectmen discussed holding a public meeting to learn about alternatives to buying the "Nunes" land on Brandt Island Road for $3.5 million or having an over 55 community built at the same location. Many residents wanted to know what their options were. Selectmen will try to have different groups, including TPL (Trust For Public Land) attend these meetings to help make citizens aware of their options.

With no further business for the board to discuss, the meeting was adjourned at 8:30 pm.

Jody Dickerson for making the arrangements with the Bristol County Sheriff's Office to provide assistance through their work program," Chairman Winters said. "I also would like to thank Ray Pickles for taking the time to sort through all our files and documents and discard what was no longer needed."

"It took about a week to complete and was a painstaking effort, but I think it resulted in a much better-looking office," he said.

Chairman Winters noted that last week the board had discussed establishing an Oversight Committee of the Growth Management Committee, and the following residents were unanimously appointed by the board: Lee Hayes, Robert Kostyla, and Missy Sittler.

At 7:05 pm the board met with Dennis Luttrell of the Buzzards Bay Action Committee (BBAC) to discuss the organization's annual report and ongoing environmental efforts within the area. Mr. Luttrell highlighted the BBAC's goals and achievements during the past year, and also took the opportunity to thank the Marion Board of Selectmen for providing them office space for the past several years. The group now has a new office located in the Dartmouth Town Hall, and their new telephone number is 999-1131.

Chairman Winters then recognized members of the local Boy Scout troop who were present at the meeting in order to earn their Citizenship Badge. He thanked them for attending and encouraged them to stay involved in town government in the years ahead.

At 7:20 pm the board met with W. Dale Jones, Director of the Marion Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT's), to discuss new EMT rules and regulations which he submitted to the board. "It's been an interesting couple of months ... we've been busy coordinating new guidelines for our department," Mr. Jones said.

Chairman Winters thanked Mr. Jones — along with Selectman Dickerson and Secretary Craver — for preparing the new EMT rules, and said the board would take them under advisement and approve them at a later date.

Mr. Jones also advised the board that a new EMT course will be starting on March 18 and will run through mid-May. He said he would like to boost the daytime EMT force, since most of the volunteers work out-of-town and can't respond during that time. The night shifts, however, are adequately covered. He also told

At 7:30 pm the board met with Missy Sittler to discuss the town's Growth Management Study — in particular, the center of town, or the "village" area. Ms. Sittler noted that in polling many town residents, the one area of Marion they most often cited as the one they'd like to see remain intact is the village. "Most (residents) said the village area was the most important to them, both in terms of aesthetic value and because it provides a setting for them to walk," Ms. Sittler said.

She went on to say that her committee has recommended that the town consider establishing a village district area that would remain fairly constant in terms of residential and commercial property. She added that it might be good to establish a village center and a village residential area so that different guidelines governing future planning could be applied.

"The other thing we need to examine is available parking in town — especially the village area," she said. "I also think we need to take steps to encourage pedestrian traffic downtown by installing better street lights."

Chairman Winters agreed with Ms. Sittler's assessment. "I think most people in Marion look at the village area as what defines the town ... what gives it its identity," he said.

Mr. Pickles added that he and Department of Public Works (DPW) Superintendent Rob Zora have been looking into purchasing some period street lights like those in downtown New Bedford's

At 7:40 pm the board met with Charles Bradley and David Arms to discuss the new Waterways Regulations, Clamming Regulations, and Aquaculture Permitting in Marion. The men explained that they reviewed the regulations and decided they needed to be revamped and updated. They took samples from several area towns along Cape Cod with larger aquaculture areas and used them as a guideline for the new regulations. The draft they were presenting to the Selectmen had already met with the approval of the state Division of Marine Fisheries.

The board said they would review the proposed regulations as submitted and agreed to take them under advisement for later approval. Chairman Winters was also curious as to what inquiries they had received regarding commercial shellfish harvesting, and Mr. Bradley noted that the inquiries have all come from outside Marion. It is for this reason that one of the new regulations specifies that commercial fishermen must hold a shellfishing permit from the Town of Marion — which means they have to reside in Marion or Rochester.

Under incoming correspondence for the week, the board received:

- Letter of resignation from Roger S. Walen, who is stepping down from the Marine Resources Commission, effective May, 1996.
- Letter of resignation from Lesleigh Anderson, who is leaving the Conservation Commission, effective April 30, 1996. Ms. Anderson will probably be leaving Marion in June and can no longer continue with the ConCom.
- Notice from Police Chief Brian J. Scott that the new E-911 phone system is up and running as of February 21. Chief Scott noted they had received several calls already, and the system seems to work quite effectively.
- Notice from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) that although the property located on 714 Front Street in Marion would be inundated by a 1 percent annual chance flood, the existing residential structure at the location would not.
- Correspondence from G. Bruce West concerning the town's recent decision to join with Carver and Wareham in becoming a member of the Northeast Resource Recovery Association (NRRA). Marion plans to work with the NRRA to set up a regional recycling program with Rochester and Acushnet whereby they will collect recyclables on a weekly basis. Mr. West concurred that this was an important step in developing the town's recycling efforts.

On a related note, Mr. Pickles advised the board that he has been meeting with DPW Superintendent Rob Zora regarding this matter, and they plan to go before the Finance Committee to request a $20,000 allocation — $10,000 of which will be covered by collected recycling fees — to start up the regional recycling program. He also consulted Town Counsel on the matter and he hopes to get a similar $20,000 commitment each from Rochester and Acushnet for the first year, and thereafter assess each town according to usage.

Mr. Pickles would like Marion to get the ball rolling as the host town, and hire two full-time DPW employees who would be responsible solely for this aspect of trash collection. "There has been considerable interest in expanding our recycling program," Mr. Pickles said. "We'll be looking at two potential recycling trucks later this week, and we've already worked out the arrangements for pickup and disposal of the recycled material."

Mr. Pickles said they have received support from Rochester, and they hope to get a similar response from Acushnet. The program can only proceed if all three towns commit to it, and he added the state is more than willing to assist by providing free

Selectmen began the meeting by approving the minutes. After Selectman Hawkes made several corrections, Selectmen began to review new correspondence. Chairman Murphy first read aloud a memo from Chief Denham to Chief Dispatcher Susan Kucinski regarding a dispatcher who wished to ride along with an officer. Murphy also read the Chief Dispatcher's reply. Selectman Hawkes made a motion to have the dispatcher in question sign a waiver of liability to protect the town. This motion passed unanimously.

Selectmen next received a memo from Chief Denham to Susan Kucinski, concerning the matter of part-time officer Bill Chamberlain. Chief Denham stated that Chamberlain is properly trained, and would like to serve as a dispatcher.

Board of Appeals concerning Michael Murphy's illegal use of a business. Chairman Murphy was required to leave the room due to a conflict of interest. Selectmen stated that it was the Building Inspector's duty to handle this violation under current policy. Selectmen received a letter in, purportedly in Murphy's defense from the Environmental Police. Due to a failure to distribute to all Selectmen this letter was not allowed to be handled at this meeting.

Selectmen read aloud a memo from Susan Kucinski regarding the next E-9-1-1 class. The memo stated that the months were confirmed, but exact dates would follow.

Selectmen read aloud a letter from the Rochester BOH regarding a house on 519 County Road. The letter stated that this house has been condemned, and that the owner must correct the cited problems and have the house reinspected before it can be deemed safe for human habitation.

Selectmen received a memo from Ms. Ferreira regarding complaints from the Highway Surveyor and Ryder Road. The letter stated that the condition of the road was not being properly maintained, and that a contractor was not upholding their end of their Earth Removal Permit, and were hauling in stumps. The contractor claimed that it was not their responsibility. A motion was passed unanimously to have a letter sent to the contractor, asking them to keep the road in good condition as their permit requires.

A letter of congratulations to Susan Kucinski and Harry Brown was read aloud. The letter, from Don Horan, states that they did an excellent in making the transition to E-9-1-1. Selectmen made various motions for congratulations, but none were passed.

Selectmen read aloud a notice announcing a meeting regarding the 1996 Telcom Law and its implications to information business. The meeting will be held of March 29, 1996 in Boston.

Selectmen signed a bill for $706 from R.E.A.D.S., Inc. for Medicaid Billing.

Under old business, Selectmen signed an invoice for Septic System Repair Program for $5,000. The money for this invoice is to come from a grant.

Selectman Hughes wanted to make a motion to spend $420 to buy carpeting for the upstairs office. Selectman Hawkes objected saying that heating or air conditioning would be more important. Ms. Ferreira pointed out that funds should be sufficient for both. Selectmen decided to check prices, and make a decision later.

Selectman Hughes made a motion to begin next week's meeting at 6:30 pm instead of 7:00 pm so that Selectmen could bring in Town Counsel. Hughes stated that he would announce at that time his reasons for voting to not reappoint Chief Denham. Several citizens requested that this meeting be held in the conference room. A small disagreement arose concerning Selectman Hughes' contacting Town Counsel being against policy. Selectman passed unanimously a motion to meet early.

A memo was read aloud concerning FinCom's desire to meet in the conference room at the same time as the Selectman's meeting, due to the fact that it was cramped fitting ten people in the Selectmen's office. A citizen remarked on the cramped room, seeing as a large number of people had shown up. Murphy stated that FinCom had requested the room, and were given usage for the night.

A letter was read aloud from Paul F. Walsh, Magistrate, in support of Chief Denham. He stated that Chief Denham "is an excellent representative for the town of Rochester and reflects much credit on the community he represents."

A letter was read aloud from David English titled "Welcome to Russiachester." Dave English made several comparison between Selectmen and the Communist Party. He further expressed his fear that Chairman Murphy and Selectman Hughes were playing power politics.

Selectman Hughes asked that the newspapers note that the Dog Officer is not Thomas Gayoski but Thomas Medeiros, who can be contacted at 763-2022.

Selectmen next met with Mr. Kenneth Snyder, Mr. Richard Manning and Dog Officer Thomas Medeiros, regarding a dog attack that occurred on Mr. Manning's property. The offending dog was identified as a bull mastiff owned by Mr. Snyder. After reviewing the facts of the incident with the parties involved, Selectmen order the dog be restrained to Mr. Snyder's property, in any suitable manner. Mr. Snyder replied that the matter would be taken care of.

Selectmen next met with Dennis Luttrell from Buzzards Bay Action Committee. The Committee handles environmental actions in the area. Mr. Luttrell wanted to stress the efficiency and recent success of the oil spill containment teams in practice drills. He also wished to stress the importance of these teams, and demonstrated the high risk Buzzard's Bay is at for an oil spill.

Old Colony Regional Voke

• The Old Colony Cougars Boys Basketball team finished off their season on a high note last week by winning three games in a row. On Monday, the Cougars defeated West Bridgewater, 54 to 45. On Tuesday, the team trounced South Shore Voke, 61 to 40. And on Wednesday, they squeaked past Bristol-Plymouth, 41 to 39, bringing their season record to 12 and 10.

"It was satisfying to beat West Bridgewater and Bristol-Plymouth," said coach Bill Hebert this week. "Both of those teams beat us last time around ... so this was a nice turnaround." Leading scorers for all three games included John Madden and Jason Cruise, and kudos is also due Thiago Leonor, the Cougar point guard who helped stabilize the defense.

The triple wins allowed the Cougars to qualify for the State Tournament this week, and at press time the team was slated to face off against Blue Hills Regional in Canton, MA in the preliminary round game of the series on Tuesday night (February 27).

• The Cougar Girls Basketball team also ended their season with a bang, defeating Dighton

FEEDING YOUR PET BIRD

All bird seed mixes say that they are nutritionally complete. Which mix is best for my bird?

The only part of a seed mix that is nutritionally complete is the little pellets that look like miniature dry dog food. If your bird doesn't eat the pellets, his diet is very deficient in calcium, Vitamin A and 19 other nutrients.

What should I feed my bird?

Feed your bird a complete pelleted diet. There are many on the market and all of them are nutritionally superior to seeds by far. To this, add a variety of fruits, vegetables and table foods. Avoid avocados as they may be toxic and iceberg lettuce as it has no nutritional value.

I tried feeding my pet bird pellets, but he didn't like them so I went back to using his seed mix.

Pet birds are like children. One needs to coax them to eat what is good for them. Offer your bird seeds in the morning and evening for 10 minutes. Make pellets, fruits, vegetables and table foods (except avocado) available all day, along with fresh water.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Residents of Mattapoisett will soon be asked to vote on spending $3.5 million to purchase the Nunes Farm property on Brandt Island to avoid its being purchased and developed as a gated community for "over 55's."

I feel we need to be aware of the fact that we do not have to purchase this property and we have the opportunity to deter and or control such development by approving recommended changes in the zoning by-laws of the town.

Agreed that the zoning by-laws changes presented at the last Special Town Meeting were voluminous and the time constraints did not allow us to properly study them, but zoning by-laws changes are definitely needed if we wish to preserve the character and the future of our town.

Mattapoisett is special--and special attention to the need for zoning by-laws changes will help to keep it that way.

Johannesburg. "South Africa has seen some exciting changes," Barron points out. "With all people now able to participate in elections, there is a renewed sense of hope. There is still some unrest and uncertainty, but opportunities to proclaim the gospel also continue to flourish. Now is the time for us to be available to present Jesus as the Messiah who not only saves people from sin, but teaches us to love and respect one another."

Barron travels to the U.S. three or four times a year to take part in executive meetings of Jews for Jesus, which also makes him available as a guest speaker at churches such as the First Congregational Church.

Jews For Jesus is an agency which proclaims that Jesus is the Messiah of Israel and Savior of the World. "What could be more Jewish than following the Messiah?" says Andrew Barron who considers himself 100 percent Jewish and 100 percent Christian.

As a science student, Barron's studies in astronomy caused him to wonder about the vastness of complexity of the universe. At the same time, he became acquainted with a Christian whose faith seemed to make a difference in the way she lived. While working in Denver, Barron came across a gospel pamphlet from Jews for Jesus and wrote a letter to their San Francisco headquarters. One of their staff had a short speaking tour in Denver and arranged a meeting with Barron to discuss Jesus. Shortly after their meeting, Barron was convinced of Jesus' Messiahship.

Barron joined the staff of the Jews for Jesus Los Angeles Branch approximately a year and a half later. He took part in "Israel 1985," a two month graduate study program in Jerusalem. Barron has a master's degree in missiology with concentration in Jewish Evangelism/Judaic Studies from the Fuller School of World Mission in Pasadena, California. He balances scholarship with grass roots evangelism; he has been a team leader on numerous Jews for Jesus Summer Witnessing Campaigns, and as a member of the senior staff of Jews for Jesus, he holds the rank of deputy commissioner. Barron has also represented South Africa as its area coordinator at conferences of the Laussanne Consultation on Jewish Evangelism in Holland and Israel.

The Jews for Jesus organization was founded by Moishe Rosen, a Jew who has believed in Jesus for over 35 years. The organization has permanent branches in nine North American cities as well as over 70 chapters spanning some 30 states.

To Barron and other Jews for Jesus, believing in Jesus makes sense in light of the Jewish Bible and in light of their experiences as believers. For those who argue that Christianity contradicts the meaning of Judaism, Barron says there are answers which he will be happy to discuss after the presentation. Call

Community Nurse

The Community Nurse Association (CNA) announces the meeting schedule for its "In the Mood" program. Now in its third year, the program is funded through a grant from Coastline Elderly Services. "In the Mood" is one of the programs offered by CNA which provides mental health services and support for elderly residents of the Greater New Bedford area. Gregory Auger, CNA's Supervisor of Psychiatric Nursing, oversees the program. According to Auger, "Many elders suffer unnecessarily because they assume groups can assist elders in dealing with the challenges and losses which often accompany aging."

"In The Mood" provides an opportunity for elders to meet for five weekly group session to share their ideas and concerns. The meetings are held in activity rooms of designated housing authority residences, but Mr. Auger noted "The support groups are not limited to residents of the complexes. All elders in Greater New Bedford communities are welcome to join any discussion group for one or all of the meetings." Three groups will be offered in New Bedford at the New Bedford Hotel, Tripp Towers and Tabor Mills. Dartmouth, Fairhaven, Mattapoisett, Rochester and Acushnet elder housing complexes will also have "In the Mood" discussion groups. The following chart shows location, dates, and times of the discussion groups.

In Acushnet the groups will take place on Wednesdays, March 6 through April 3 at the Presidential Terrace from 1:00 pm until 2:00 pm.

In Mattapoisett the group will meet at Village Court on Thursdays, from March 7-April 4 from 1:30

Movie Review - Though Bleak, Mary Reilly is Compelling

By Rob Gonsalves

• Mary Reilly. Starring Julia Roberts and John Malkovich. Directed by Stephen Frears. Running time: 108 minutes. MPAA rating: R. At Cinema 140 in New Bedford (999-6577).

The stuffy clothes, the furtive repression, the Victorian drizzle and fog ... Mary Reilly will undoubtedly leave many people cold, but I snuggled into its bleakness. This film has been shot (by Oscar-winning cinematographer Phillippe Rousselot) to be as blackand-white as a movie can possibly get and still be in color, and the world it shows us is one big grainy haze—the gray area between virtue and sin, love and horror.

Mary Reilly deserves a bigger audience than it will probably get in this country, not least because it offers Julia Roberts' breakthrough performance.

Roberts, of course, is Mary Reilly, a maid in the house of Dr. Henry Jekyll (John Malkovich). Throughout the movie, Mary is like a frightened bird, always having her wings clipped by one abusive man or another.

But Jekyll is kind to her, and he draws her into a small degree of intimacy by inquiring where she got the odd scars on her wrists and neck. He seems to respond to the pain and anger she carries around (but never expresses), but she doesn't know what to make of the signals he's sending.

It soon becomes clear that this gentle man of science is keeping a lid on a huge, steaming pot of sexual aggression. An assistant, Edward Hyde, enters the picture and ... ah, forget it — you know who Hyde really is. But Mary doesn't. Or does she?

Director Stephen Frears and writer Christopher Hampton (who previously collaborated on Dangerous Liaisons) slyly suggest that Mary knows more than she lets on, even to us. Comforted by the tender Jekyll, attracted to the savage Hyde, Mary is as divided as the doctor himself.

Mary Reilly probes the raw flesh under this woman's sexual scars. The moviemakers, adapting Valerie Martin's novel, imply that Mary's preoccupation with her strange master is her way of empowering herself — allowing herself to be drawn to a man who is both dangerous and safe. In Mary's tense moments of passion or peril, Roberts lets her face go utterly numb, a brave choice bound to be misinterpreted.

Though her accent comes and goes, Roberts subtly communicates the shifting emotions of a woman shrinking in fear of herself. The beast in her is the Victorian beast of the sexual woman (embodied by Glenn Close in a sneering, mega-campy turn as a whorehouse madam).

As for Malkovich, his Hyde isn't quite as creepy as you might hope. (His Jekyll is actually creepier, probably by design.) That dead voice he uses is effective but indifferent, as if he didn't want to commit to his own dialogue.

And neither he nor Roberts can rescue the climax, which is far too literal (it reeks of studio mending) and betrays the ambiguous tone the moviemakers have sustained so elegantly.

But even this parting shot in the foot doesn't cripple the movie. Mary Reilly is a mood piece in grays and blacks; the only spots of vivid color are the flowers in Mary's tiny garden and the blood of Englishmen (and women). Its one-two combo of hot desire and freezing rain gives you a Jekyll-Hyde fever. It leaves you chilled by what moviemakers are saying and warmed by how masterfully they say it.

This Week's Horoscope

by Linda Black

Aries (March 21-April 19). Hit the books hard. Your research will pay off. A friend's problem may mess up your plans. Don't be mean, but help a friend accept reality.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). Check another income source. Get a friend to help with your research. Attend a meeting and plan a trip with friends.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Replenish your savings by taking on extra work for an older person. Stand up to a narrow-minded bigot and you may make a convert. Cancer (June 22-July 22). Confidential inquiries could lead to the answers you need. Ask questions, too, if you want to know everything.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Team activities take priority. A group decision leads to action later. Finish a tough assignment even if you don't want to.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Help an older person stay on schedule. An expert can help you get needed funds. Your input's important at a club meeting. Contribute time, not money, to a worthy cause. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Talking back to a supervisor could have dire consequences. Don't even think about it; that one can read your mind. Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You're lucky in love but may lack funds. An old flame may want to rekindle. Obey a dictatorial manager nicely.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). A contentious person could provide the answer. Keep a friend and a roommate apart. Sell something for muchneeded cash. Obey an older person's orders.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Hours spent on a project will be rewarded. Don't get sidetracked by superfluous data. If you get into a fight, get your friend to referee.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You may fall in love again. Daydreaming at work could cause giggles, so take care. If you need a challenge, ask for Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20). It may be hard to find a quiet place at home. Schedule a private consultation with your favorite counselor. Go ahead and fall hopelessly in love. You'll have to work hard to keep up.

If You're Having a Birthday This Week: The work you do this year is the foundation upon which you'll build your future. Do a good job.

Wareham Visiting Nurses—the new Home Care Division of Tobey Hospital—will be headed by Eleanor C. Lewis, RN, MBA, who has served as Director of the VNA for many years. Lewis will become a Tobey Vice President in charge of Home Care Services. Established in town over 58 years ago, the VNA provides a wide range of home health services to area residents, including home visits by registered nurses, home health aides, rehabilitation services, and community services such as annual flu shots, a child wellness clinic with immunizations, regular blood pressure screenings and other health education programs.

"Linking hospital and home care services will benefit the community," noted John M. Carlson, Tobey President. VNA Director Eleanor Lewis noted that the agency will be able to offer expanded services and reach a wider population as a result of its affiliation with Tobey. "There will be closer collaboration between hospital and home health nurses, which will greatly benefit our patients. For Tobey especially, it will produce a seamless transition from acute care to home." Some new programs that the VNA will begin offering are a Maternal/Child Health home visit program for newborns and mothers, a diabetes support and education program, and wellness programs for the elderly and teens.
